Parkes NSW Cup Day Races a great day out

On the 30th of January race connections of our future broodmare Shouldabinacowgirl headed to the Parkes Cup raceday to watch the 3yo filly in her barrier trial. Missing the start and with her mind not on the job, the Jockey gave her a few flicks of the whip down the home straight where she showed a lovely turn of foot and was catching the frontrunners. She finished a very respectable 4th and we look forward to her first race start. It was a great day out with Takeover Target making an appearance and Peta picking the Cup winner when paraded who was $41 to 1. Apologies to bookmaker Richard Knight!

His And Hers Diaries Thank you Phillip for the forward HER DIARY

Tonight, I thought my husband was acting weird. We had made plans to meet at a bar to have a drink. I was shopping with my friends all day long, so I thought he was upset at the fact that I was a bit late, but he made no comment on it.

Conversation wasn't flowing, so I suggested that we go somewhere quiet so we could talk. He agreed, but he didn't say much. I asked him what was wrong. He said, 'Nothing.' I asked him if it was my fault that he was upset. He said he wasn't upset, that it had nothing to do with me, and not to worry about it.

On the way home, I told him that I loved him. He smiled slightly, and kept driving. I can't explain his behavior. I don't know why he didn't say, 'I love you, too.' When we got home, I felt as if I had lost him completely, as if he wanted nothing to do with me anymore. He just sat there quietly, and watched TV. He continued to seem distant and absent.

Finally, with silence all around us, I decided to go to bed. About 15 minutes later, he came to bed. To my surprise, he responded to my caress, and we made love. But I still felt that he was distracted, and his thoughts were somewhere else. He fell asleep - I cried. I don't know what to do. I'm almost sure that his thoughts are with someone else. My life is a disaster.
